Enhancement of LSRW

ABOUT COMMUNICATION SKILLS

LSRW are the four pillars of effective communication. The full form of LSRW is Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing. They are not only helpful in a professional setting but also in making friends, building relationships and being confident about who you are. These communication skills are essential in all stages of life to help us be better individuals. They give learners scaffold support, opportunities to create, contexts in which to use the language for exchanges of real information, evidence of their own ability (proof of learning) and, most important, confidence.
